Experience MedCentral

The search for the right college is an important process for you. The choices that you make will have an influence on more than just your next few years; they will impact the rest of your life.

MedCentral College of Nursing considers a campus visit an essential part of your decision-making process. To prepare for college visits you should outline a checklist or series of questions that relate to your personal concerns and needs. Attending our many Open House and Discovery Day events or coming for a personal campus visit will ensure that you have all your important questions answered.

We encourage you to explore MedCentral firsthand and experience all that our campus community has to offer. While on campus, you can meet with admission and financial aid representatives, tour our facilities and find out why MedCentral is a special place. Just like your education at MedCentral, your day will be personalized to meet your schedule and your expectations.

If you would like to schedule a personal appointment or would like information about one of our upcoming Open House or Discovery Day events, please contact the Office of Admission.
